Foreword

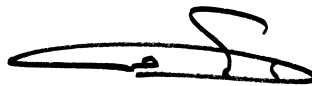

The General Conference of UNESCO is required, at each of its sessions, to elect Member States to be members of the Executive Board or of the Commissions and other subsidiary organs of the Conference, in accordance with their rules of procedure or respective statutes.

The Executive Board, elected by the General Conference, is one of the three constitutional organs of UNESCO with the role to examine the programme of work for the Organization and corresponding budget estimates for each biennium, ensuring the effective and rational execution of the programme by the Director-General.

The General Conference also elects intergovernmental Committees and Councils which are associated with UNESCO's major programmes. These organs allow Member States to actively participate in these programmes, ensure the visibility of the Organisation and testify of its vitality.

The present publication aims therefore to present the role and current composition of these organs elected by the 32nd session of the General Conference in 2003, make them better known to our main partners and provide a useful information tool to our Member States when preparing for elections to renew the membership of these intergovernmental bodies.

This information on their composition and statutes can also be found by consulting the UNESCO web site (<http://www.unesco.org> / General Conference / Elections and Executive Board) and the ERC Intranet site (<http://ercintranet.unesco.org/erc/oicc/>).

Executive Board

The Executive Board is elected by the General Conference and is one of the three constitutional organs of UNESCO. It consists of 58 Member States with a four-year term of office. Each State Member appoints one representative and may also appoint alternates. The Executive Board examines the programme of work for the Organization and corresponding budget estimates. It ensures the effective and rational execution of the programme by the Director-General.

Chairperson of the Executive Board: Mr Hans-Heinrich WREDE (Germany)

Legal Committee

Origin	By resolution 42.4, adopted at its 7th session, in 1952, the General Conference decided to convert the Procedure Committee into a Legal Committee of a more technical nature; it would advise on any legal question referred to it by the General Conference or any of its organs. The Legal Committee is governed by Rules 36, 37, 38 of the Rules of Procedure of the General Conference.
Functions	The Committee considers proposals for the amendment of the Constitution and of the present Rules; agenda items referred to it by the General Conference; appeals submitted by sponsors of draft resolutions to the General Conference that have been considered inadmissible by the Director-General under Rule 80; legal questions submitted to it by the General Conference or any of its organs. The Committee also considers the reports relating on conventions or recommendations transmitted to it by the General Conference. The Committee submits its reports either directly to the General Conference or to the referring organ or the organ which has been designated by the General Conference. (Abstracts from Rule 37 of the Rules of Procedure of the General Conference) The Legal Committee may be consulted on any question concerning the interpretation of the Constitution and of the rules and regulations. (Abstracts from Rule 38 of the Rules of Procedure of the General Conference)
Composition	The Legal Committee consists of 21 Member States elected at the preceding session. According to 32C/Resolution 78, the number of its members will be increased to 24, as of the election will take place during the 33rd session of the General Conference. At its 32nd session, the General Conference elected the following Member States to be members of the Committee from the beginning of the 33rd session until the beginning of the 34th session: Algeria, Argentina, Azerbaijan, Bahamas, Cameroon, Canada, Chile, Czech Republic, Egypt, France, Germany, Ghana, Haiti, India, Italy, Japan, Madagascar, Morocco, Mauritania, Saint Lucia, United States of America. The Committee elects its own chairperson.

Conciliation and Good Offices Commission responsible for seeking the settlement of any disputes that may arise between States Parties to the Convention against Discrimination in Education

Origin	At its 12th session, on 10 December 1962, the General Conference adopted a Protocol instituting a Conciliation and Good Offices Commission to be responsible for seeking the settlement of any disputes which may arise between States Parties to the Convention against Discrimination in Education. Article 1 of this Protocol established, under the auspices of UNESCO, a Conciliation and Good Offices Commission, to be responsible for seeking the amicable settlement of disputes between States Parties to the Convention concerning the application or interpretation of the Convention. The Protocol having entered into force on 24 October 1968, at its 16th session, under Article 2 of the Protocol, the General Conference elected the 11 members of the Commission on 6 November 1970.
Functions	The Conciliation and Good Offices Commission is responsible for seeking the amicable settlement of disputes between States Parties to the Convention concerning the application or interpretation of the Convention.
Composition	Under Article 2 of the Protocol, the members of the Commission must be persons of high moral standing and acknowledged impartiality. They serve in their personal capacity. In the election of members of the Commission, the General Conference shall endeavour to include persons of recognized competence in the field of education, and persons having judicial experience, or legal experience, particularly of an international character. It shall also give consideration to equitable geographical distribution of membership, and to the representation of the different forms of civilization as well as of the principal legal systems. Article 4, paragraph 1, of the Protocol provides that the Commission may not include more than one national of the same State. Article 3, paragraph 1, of the Protocol provides that the members of the Commission shall be elected from a list of persons nominated for the purpose by the States Parties to the Protocol, after consultation with their National Commissions for UNESCO. Each State Party may nominate not more than four persons, who must be nationals of States Parties to the Protocol.

Organs elected by the General Conference

	At its 32nd session, the General Conference elected the following members of the Commission: (Côte d'Ivoire) Ms Léa Akissi (France) Mr Pierre-Michel Eisemann (Germany) Mr Klaus Hübner (Italy) Mr Francesco Margiotta-Broglio (Madagascar) Ms Yvette Rabetafik-Ranjeva (Netherlands) Mr Louis Peter Van Vliet (Uganda) Ms Florence M. Council of the UNESCO International Bureau of Education
(IBE)

Origin of IBE	The International Bureau of Education, which is an international centre for the content of education, was founded in Geneva in 1925 as a private institution. In 1929, it extended its membership to governments and thus became the first intergovernmental organization in the field of education. In 1969, the IBE joined UNESCO as an integral, yet autonomous, institution (15 C/Res. 14.1 (1968)). Statutes entered into force on 1st January 1969. Modified at its 19th (19 C/Res. 1.521) 21st (21 C/Res. 1/13), 24th (24 C/Res. 4.3), 25th (25 C/Res. 1.2.1) 28th (28 C/Res. 1.10 et 22) and 29th (29 C/Res. 3) sessions.
Mission of IBE	In accordance with Article II of the Statutes, the International Bureau of Education “shall contribute to the design and implementation of the programme of the Organization in regard to education”. Defined by the General Conference, at its 30th session, as a UNESCO centre specializing in the content of education, IBE leads a programme focused on the theme “Learning to live together” with three strategic objectives: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • strengthening of capacity building to reform educational content, • learning strategies, • structures and methods of managing programmes in Member States; • collecting, analysing and disseminating information on best practices; • promoting dialogue on educational policy particularly when organizing sessions of the International Conference on Education. IBE is also engaged, within its area of competence, in cross-cutting programmes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • technical support on curriculum development, at the request of Member States, • clearing house for educational responses to prevent HIV/AIDS, within the UN inter-agency programme.

Intergovernmental Council for the Information for All Programme (IFAP)

Origin	On the recommendation of the PGI Council and IIP Committee, the General Conference authorized the Executive Board to create the Information for All Programme (30 C/Res. 36, 1999) merging the General Information Programme (PGI) and the Intergovernmental Informatics Programme (IIP). The activities carried out by these two programmes did no longer respond neither to the needs of the information society nor to the new requirements of UNESCO in this area (160 EX/Dec.3.6.1).
Mission of the Programme	To be a key participant in the fulfilment of UNESCO's mandate to contribute to "Education for all", to the "free exchange of ideas and knowledge" and to "increase the means of communication between peoples"; to contribute to narrowing the gap between the information rich and the information poor; to take direct initiatives, commission studies, facilitate cooperation, analyse and report on all aspects of access to and management of information; to give priority to working with all UNESCO sectors in the adaptation of ICT to their activities.
Mandate of the Council	To guide the planning and implementation of IFAP; to consider proposals on the development and adaptation of the Programme; to review and assess achievements; to define the basic areas requiring increased international co-operation; to promote participation of Member States in the Programme.
Composition	The Council consists of 26 Member States. Their 4-year term of office extends from the end of the ordinary session of the General Conference during which they are elected until the end of its second subsequent ordinary session. The Council is renewed by half, 13 members are to be elected at each ordinary session of the General Conference. Member States elected at the 32nd session of the General Conference until the end of the 34th session: Angola, Austria, Belgium, Cameroon, France, Indonesia, Iran (Islamic Republic of), Madagascar, New Zealand, Peru, Tunisia, Uruguay, Venezuela

Intergovernmental Council of the Management of Social Transformations (MOST) Programme

Origin	At its 27th session, in 1993, the General Conference decided the establishment of an international social science programme entitled Management of Social Transformations (MOST), and adopted the resolution 27 C/5.2. Statutes amended by the General Conference at its 28th (1995) session.
Mission of the Programme	MOST is a UNESCO Programme that promotes international, comparative and policy-relevant research on contemporary social transformations and issues of global importance. It aims to further understand social transformations, establish sustainable links between social science researchers and decision-makers, strengthen scientific, professional and institutional capacities, particularly in developing countries, encourage the design of research-anchored policy. The MOST Programme is directed by an Intergovernmental Council and an independent Scientific Advisory Committee.
Mandate of the Council	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To guide and supervise the planning and implementation of the MOST Programme; • to consider proposals on the development and adaptation of the MOST Programme; • to define the broad substantive areas of the MOST Programme and to recommend the broad lines of action that the Programme could take; • to review and assess the activities and achievements of the MOST Programme as well as to define the basic areas requiring increased international co-operation, on the basis, inter alia, of the report submitted by the Scientific Advisory Committee that the Council may consult in exercising its functions.
Composition	The Council consists of 35 Member States. Their 4-year term of office extends from the end of the ordinary session of the General Conference during which they are elected until the end of its second subsequent ordinary session. Member States elected at the 31st session until the end of the 33rd session: <table style="margin-left: 40px;"> <tr> <td>Albania</td> <td>Netherlands</td> </tr> <tr> <td>Bangladesh</td> <td>Norway</td> </tr> </table>	Albania	Netherlands	Bangladesh	Norway

Intergovernmental Bioethics Committee (IGBC)

Origin	In 1993, the General Conference approved the establishment by the Director-General of UNESCO of the UNESCO International Bioethics Committee (27 C/Res. 5.15). In 1997, the General Conference adopted the Universal Declaration on the Human Genome and Human Rights (29 C/Res. 16) as well as a resolution for its implementation (29 C/Res. 17). At its 154th session, in 1998, the Executive Board approved the statutes of the International Bioethics Committee (IBC) (154 EX/Dec.8.4). In Article 11 of these statutes, the Intergovernmental Committee has been established.
Mission	The International Bioethics Committee has the following functions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To keep abreast of progress in genetics, whilst at the same time taking care to ensure respect for the values of human dignity and freedom in view of the potential risks of irresponsible attitudes in biomedical research; • to promote reflection on the ethical and legal issues raised by research in the life sciences and their applications; • to encourage action to heighten awareness among the general public, specialized groups and public and private decision-makers involved in bioethics.
Mandate	In accordance with Article 11 of the Statutes of the IBC, the Intergovernmental Committee examines the advice and recommendations of the IBC, including those concerned with the follow-up of the Universal Declaration. It informs the IBC of its opinions. It submits its opinions to the Director-General for transmission together with the advice and recommendations of the IBC, to the Member States, the Executive Board and the General Conference. It may transmit any proposals for the follow-up of the advice and recommendations of the IBC.
Composition	The Committee consists of 36 Member States. Their 4-year term of office extends from the end of the ordinary session of the General Conference during which they are elected until the end of its second subsequent ordinary session. Member States elected at the 31st session until the end of the 33rd session:
